How Children Perceive Their Grandparents

1. My young grandson called the other day to wish me Happy Birthday. He asked me how old I was and I told him, 80. My grandson was quiet for a moment, and then he asked, "Did you start at 1?"
2. Children's Logic: "Give me a sentence about a public servant," said a teacher. The small boy wrote: "The fireman came down the ladder pregnant." The teacher took the lad aside to correct him "Don't you know what pregnant means?" she asked. "Sure," said the young boy confidently. It means carrying a child.
3. When my grandson and I entered our vacation cabin, we kept the lights off until we were inside to keep pesky insects outside. Still, a few fireflies followed us in. Noticing them before I did, he whispered, "It's no use Grandpa, now the mosquitoes are coming after us with flashlights."
4. A six year old was asked where his grandma lived. "Oh, she lives at the airport and when we want her, we just go get her. Then, when we're done having her visit, we take her back to airport."
5. Grandpa is the smartest man on earth. He teaches me good things, but I don't get to see him enough to get as smart as him.
6. After putting her grandchildren to bed, a grandmother changed into old slacks and a droopy blouse and proceeded to wash her hair. As she hears the children getting more and more rambunctious, her patience grew thin. Finally, she threw a towel around her head and stormed into their room, putting them back to bed with stern warnings. As she left the room, she heard the three-year-old say with a trembling voice, "Who was that?"

Holy Humor

A young lady came home from a date rather sad. She told her mother, "Anthony proposed to me an hour ago." "Then why are you so sad?" her mother asked. Because he also told me he is an atheist. As their mother was preparing some pancakes, the boys began to argue loudly over who would be the first one from the griddle. The mother saw the opportunity for a moral lesson.
